CINCINNATI:
Wednesday, May 14, 1845.

Terms.

$2 a year, for a single copy.
Three copies to one address for $5, in advance.

Any Postmaster or other person, sending us six new subscribers, with the cash, shall be entitled to one copy for a year.

Persons who have paid in advance on the one dollar plan will, of course, receive the fifty-two numbers they paid for.

As the paper will be continued to all whose subscriptions may expire from time to time, those who do not wish to receive it, will please return it. We shall be sorry to part with any, after having taken so much pains to give them a large and good paper.

After the 1st July, no postage within 30 miles.

OUR ANNIVERSARY.

The Anniversary of the Ohio State Anti-Slavery Society will be held at Granville, on Wednesday, the 18th of June.

The Liberty Courier will please correct its notice of the day.

It is expected that the speakers from the East and from Pittsburgh, will stop at Granville on their return from the Convention at Cincinnati.

We hope the Liberty papers in the State will call attention to the Anniversary. The friends at Granville always welcome us—and all the delegates may be sure of a cordial reception.

Mr. Lewis purposes to be at the Anniversary.

A WORD.

We intend to be present at our anniversary, in Granville, and shall be happy to see the faces of many of our subscribers as can attend. It will be a convenient opportunity for clearing off old scores, and beginning again.

MONEY MATTERS.

If our subscribers who are now receiving our paper, and have not yet paid, will only remember that empty mails to an editor, are worse, if anything, than death to a farmer, they will confer a great favor on us.

YOUTH'S VISITOR—An Offer.

To encourage the patrons of the Youth's Visitor, the publisher has concluded to send to every boy or girl, forwarding the names of four new subscribers, with the money, one copy gratis, for one year. Here's a chance, now, for the young folks. Almost every one, by a little effort, can procure four subscribers.

This privilege is only granted for a limited time. Remember that.

CONVENTION AT TROY, MIAMI CO.

Mr. Grosvenor, of Troy, Miami county, wishes to know what speakers and what company they may expect, at their Convention on the 22d and 23d inst. They are desirous of getting out handbills in time. Those interested will confer a great favor on Mr. G. by writing to him immediately, and letting him know where is the Library Committee?

OUR CONVENTION.

We continue to receive the most gratifying assurances that our contemplated Convention on the 11th of June ensuing, will be a large, and greatly interesting one. It has excited attention in all parts of the country, and many of the political, as well as the anti-slavery papers have noticed it in the most favorable terms. The Boston Morning Chronicle with its accustomed sarcasm is railing at delegation from New England. It wishes to know the cost of the travel from Pittsburg to this place. Cheap enough for the poorest. Three, or four, or five dollars, cabin passage, and all found.

From Pittsburg we expect a large representation. The surrounding country will pour in crowds.

The reports we learn, are getting every thing in a state of preparation.

ARKANSAS—Its Condition.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Arkansas, gives a deplorable picture of the financial condition of that State. We glean a few items from his communication, bonds issued by the State for the State Bank, $1,146,000; interest on this, 67,300; bonds issued for the real estate bank, $1,330,00; interest on this, 91,800. Besides this, $500 bonds have been hypothecated, on which it is claimed that over $300,000 is due, with interest for years.

No interest has been paid since January 1842, so that the amount of interest now due, is $480,000.

The Banks are utterly insolvent. The State does not raise enough for current expenses.

The receipts into the Treasury, from taxes, and the ordinary sources of revenue, since Sept. 12, 1836, have been as follows:

$35,620.99

55,174.46

5,626.98

58,247.80

61,596.00

49,640.22

Total receipts from those sources,

$206,161.52

The expenditures during the same period,

45,519.00

45,174.46

102,983.40

50,247.80

From 1st Oct. '36 to 30th Sept. '44,

164,151.73

Total of expenditures,

549,916.00

292,511.98

Excess of expenditures over receipts, $306,161.52

The last Legislature utterly refused to increase the taxes, and pass a law providing that they should be paid in nothing but Specie or Treasury Warrants, thus directly repudiating the paper of their Treasury Bank.

Taxes, we presume, will be like unto Arkansas—a star of equal brilliancy.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

Sixty-eight new publications have been stereotyped during the year, by this Society. Circulated during the year,

374,157

Publications,

5,626,98

Whole number of pages circulated in twenty years,

1,544,043,796

The Society during the year has printed 36,000 volumes in German.

Receipts for the year,

$152,376.78

Proceeds of sales,

$85,296.00

Donations,

$2,306.38

Increase over last year's

$49,929.34

CIVILIZATION IN THE ADVANCE, IN CINCINNATI.

Chaney Paul, whose school house in Moorefield township, Clark county, was torn down last October, by an anti-slavery mob, and, who succeeded recently at the Court of Common Pleas, in having the rioters somewhat afflicated by the law, has again made the victim of the mob. Last Saturday night, when he was from the Springfield Republic, he was called up at midnight, decoyed some distance from his house, by the information that a negro whom he knew, was lying dangerously ill, and then assailed by two ruffians, with clubs. He was wounded severely, but his loud cries for help frightened his assailants off, before they had accomplished their purpose.

The Springfield Republic says—"We have not learned that any step has been taken by our authorities to discover the offenders." "Authorities" are not apt to take any steps in such cases, till they are pricked.

A Thrilling Scene.

Those who have read the "Wandering Jew," far, will recollect that the groundwork of the plot, is a systematic struggle on the part of the Jews to obtain possession of an immense property, which was to be divided by will among the heirs of an enemy of their order, on a certain day. So long a period had elapsed since the death of the testator, and so widely scattered were the family, that it seemed almost impossible to be in Paris, in a certain street, on a given day. The Jews are to meet the priest, with the design to obtain possession of the property through his instrumentalities.

The others are to keep out of the way, till the day appointed be past. The various devices to accomplish this object, the resistance offered, and the disappointments, constitute the thread of the plot. The chief agent to whom the work is entrusted, a man of brilliant talents, tries to make so long an interval, anything but this failing, resort to force, and is baffled. At the moment he gets the control of her hands, and the young girl finds mechanically in her hand her Indian bouquet, which she still panted and oppressed.

Drops of perspiration ran down his face, and he had foreseen, with his enormous mouth open, seemed to defend the entrance of his den. Morok awaited a favorable opportunity for attacking him.

He was such a fitful, dangerous, fat, and impudent fellow, that he now saw at the entrance of the cavern. The moment was decisive.

Crouching and gathered together, with his hands at his sides, followed with his eyes and body, every movement of the intruder, who, howling furiously, with his enormous mouth wide open, seemed to defend the entrance of his den. Morok awaited a favorable opportunity for attacking him.

Hymn of the City.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.
Not in the solitude
Alone may man commune with Heaven, or
A savage wood
And vanity the present Deity;
But the winds whisper and the waves rejoice.

Even here do I behold them, amidst the crowd
Through the city rolled,
With everlasting murmur deep and loud—
Choking the ways of men.

"Mongst the great piles, the work of human kind,
The spirit comes

From the round heaven, and on their dwellings lie,

And lights their morn, and with the unbound skies,
And giveth them the stores.

Of ocean, and the wealth of its shores.

The spirit around

Quiesces the restless man that sweeps along;

And this eternal

Voice, and sound of the numberless throng—

Or like the rainy tempest, speaks of Thee;

And when the hours of rest,
Come like a calm, upon the mid-sea brine,

The quiet of that moment, too, is thine;

It breathes in helpless cities while it sleeps.

The vast and terrible

From the London Literary Gazette.

Yankee Doodle and Reputation.

Yankee Doodle borrows cash,
And Yankee spends it at
The Jolly fop who lends it.
Ask him when he means to pay,

But says he'll take the shortest way,

And Yankee repays him not.

Yankee borrows cash,

And Yankee repays him not.

They keep distinct till "settling" comes,

And Yankee repays him not.

To preach Reputation.

Lending cash to Illinois,

Florida, or Mississippi,

Once was quite a mania.

Of course you know to say

What makes the poor show, sitz,

But Yankee seems to like it.

Yankee borrows cash,

And Yankee repays him not.

He tells 'em they are clapping on

Their backs to a stoker,

At which they wince in war.

They'll never a copper.

Just as if to spite us,

They'll better stop our dividends,

And give us the last pointed darts

And cannot put together!

He's got 'em there clapping on

He's got 'em there clapping on

Their backs to a stoker,

At which they wince in war.

They'll never a copper.

Just as if to spite us,

They'll better stop our dividends,

And give us the last pointed darts

And cannot put together!

He's got 'em there clapping on

Their backs to a stoker,

At which they wince in war.

They'll never a copper.

Just as if to spite us,

They'll better stop our dividends,

And give us the last pointed darts
